

If your loved ones who have crossed over could talk to you, what would they say?

Join Kent as she takes you on a mystical journey through life. The fatal car accident of her lover, Russell, in 2005, has an unforeseen outcome. Not only does he let her know that he is still alive and with her, but he also reveals specific details—names, dates, places, events—of a future life they will have together when reincarnating in the middle of the 21st century as Mark and Eva Wexford. He says “Tell our story...it is time for the truth to be known,” and then he asks that a time capsule be buried. She is told it will be discovered and opened July 24, 2067.

Along with her father, Wick, who crossed in 1995, Russell helps Kent to unravel some of life’s greatest mysteries including some cutting edge theoretical science, as information flowed across an etheric wavelength. Truly uplifting, this story of life after death offers comfort to those who have lost a loved one, and inspiration for anyone who is searching for the deeper meaning of life.

“If you have ever lost someone you’ve loved, this book is incredibly comforting; it will change your perception and possibly your life. With its accounts of the past, the present, and the future, this book moves past boundaries and shows us how fragile they were...that anything is possible and that nothing is ever only as it seems.” Petrene Soames, author The Essence of Self-Healing

“...Love Promised will truly inspire and educate anyone who wants to know more about this milestone we call death.” Sonia Choquette, NY Times Bestselling Author

“I have always called The Celestine Prophecy a book on Spirituality 101—Love Promised: A Future Life Revealed is PhD level.” Peggy Sue Skipper, author Ancient History from Beyond the Veil
